Creating your video The Advanced Screen Recorder is a free screen capture software that can be used to make screen recordings and save them as both an image file or a Windows Media file (.wmv or.avi). The software can be used to create a video for the web or Youtube. It can record both sound and video and has the ability to save all captured information into multiple file formats. Hydroxyapatite bioceramics induce TGF-beta3 expression, aggregation, and suppresses proliferation of bovine pulp cells in vitro.

Hydroxyapatite (HA) is a widely used material for a number of clinical and industrial applications including drug delivery, bone growth, dental implantation, and tissue engineering. By utilizing a variation of the bioceramic approach, we examined the effect of HA bioceramics on transcription of transforming growth factor beta (TGF-beta) isoforms. Furthermore, the functional role of TGF-beta3 in the early response to HA bioceramic is also investigated. In this work, the effect of NaHA bioceramics on bovine pulp cell culture in vitro was evaluated. A systematic evaluation of human and bovine culture conditions demonstrated the presence of TGF-beta3 mRNA expression in three pulp cell lines. NaHA bioceramics suppressed the expression of TGF-beta3 mRNA in pulp cells but increased TGF-beta1 mRNA expression. Quantification of the amount of TGF-beta3 protein secreted from pulp cells to the medium after exposure to the NaHA bioceramics was studied using a TGF-beta3 enzyme-linked immunosorbent assay. The amount of TGF-beta3 protein secreted from pulp cells exposed to the HA bioceramics was less than that secreted by pulp cells exposed to glass controls. An inhibition of cell proliferation was observed in pulp cells cultured on HA bioceramics and glass controls. Furthermore, the immunohistochemical localization of TGF-beta3 protein in bioceramic-loaded pulp tissue sections was found to be similar in localization to controls. These data indicate that HA bioceramics suppress the expression of TGF-beta3 in pulp cells, which may affect the pulp-bone interface by disrupting the final function of TGF-beta3.
